Outcome of the Programme

The programme successfully educated and inspired students to delve into game development as a promising career path. Participants expressed enthusiasm about the insights shared and appreciated the practical knowledge gained during the sessions.

Feedback and Suggestions

The students praised the interactive format and the relevance of the topics discussed. Many suggested organizing more such events, specifically focused on advanced game development tools and techniques

Conclusion

The Enter the Game verse programme was a resounding success, equipping students with valuable knowledge and skills while highlighting the importance of innovation in game development. The Department of Computer Science and Design at RRCE continues to set benchmarks by fostering industry-relevant skills through such initiatives.
